

Narrative Biography of Gregory E. Conrad

Greg Conrad is Executive Director of the Interstate Mining Compact Commission (IMCC), a multi-state governmental organization representing 24 mineral producing states. Greg has served in his position since 1988 and is responsible for overseeing several issues of importance to the states in the legislative and regulatory affairs arenas including mining and reclamation, mine placement of coal combustion products, identification and restoration of abandoned mine lands, mine safety and health, and various environmental issues associated with mineral production such as surface and ground water quality and quantity.

Prior to joining IMCC, Greg served for nine years as senior counsel with the American Mining Congress, which is now part of the National Mining Association. While with AMC, Greg had primary staff responsibility for several coal related issues including transportation, leasing, research and development initiatives, and surface mining and reclamation.

Greg has spoken and presented papers at a variety of meetings and conferences hosted by such organizations as the Eastern Mineral Law Foundation, the National Academy of Science, the Conference of Government Mining Attorneys, the American Association of State Geologists, the Colorado School of Mines, the Office of Surface Mining, the National Association of Abandoned Mine Land Programs, the National Mining Association, the Environmental Law Institute and various state government groups. He has written extensively on mining issues for professional journals and magazines.

Greg graduated from Michigan State University with a degree in business administration and later from the University of Detroit/Mercy School of Law where he was an associate editor of the law review.
